

SYMPOSIUM

“Strategies for Diagnosis and Treatment of Microbial Diseases”

September 29, 2008

An Honorary Symposium for Professor Carl Erik Nord

Venue: Swedish Society of Medicine, Stockholm
Day and Time: Monday September 29, 2008, 12.30-17.00

Chairperson: Lennart Eriksson, Professor, Karolinska Institutet, Stockholm, Sweden

12.30-12.35 Carl Erik Nord, Professor, Karolinska Institutet, Stockholm, Sweden:

Introduction

12.40-13.20 Alasdair Geddes, Professor, University of Birmingham, UK:
What has history taught us about microorganisms in human diseases?

13.25-14.05 Giuseppe Cornaglia, Professor, University of Verona, Italy:
Europe as a driving force for diagnosis and treatment of microbial diseases

14.05-14.35 Refreshments

Chairperson: Ragnar Norrby, Director-General, Professor, Swedish Institute for Infectious Disease Control, Stockholm, Sweden

14.35-15.15 Didier Raoult, Professor, Université de la Méditerranée, Marseille, France:
New technologies to diagnose infections, serve infection control and treat infections

15.20-16.00 Roger Finch, Professor, Nottingham University Hospital, UK:
Do we need new antimicrobial agents and vaccines for prevention and treatment of microbial diseases?

16.05-16.10 Ragnar Norrby:
Concluding remarks

16.10-17.00 Reception

Welcome!

Registration: Mail to gudrun.rafi@ki.se not later than September 19
Information: Telephone +46-8-585 878 35

Karolinska
Institutet

SMITTSKYDDSinSTITUTET
Swedish Institute for Infectious Disease Control